DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 11-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sadarangani et al. (U.S. Patent 6,717,297).

Sadarangani et al. disclose an electrical machine comprising:

- a core or common part 5 with coils or windings 6a, 6b, 6c, 6d (column 5, lines 25-32, lines 50-57), permanent magnets 12', 12'' located at least partially inside windings 6a, 6b, 6c, 6d and inclined at an angle relative to the direction of movement of an armature or movable elements 10, 11 (column 8, lines 43-61; Figures 10-13);
- an air gap between the end of permanent magnets 12', 12'' and adjacent end surfaces 7, 8 contained wholly within the core or common part 5 to improve magnetic flux thereby reducing flux leakage (column 6, lines 32-46; Figures 1-3, 10-13);
- the axis of the coil or winds 6a, 6b, 6c, 6d being parallel to the movement of the armature or movable elements 10, 11 (Figures 1-3, 10-13);
- the permanent magnets 12', 12'' extending substantially fully along a height and substantially inside of the windings 6a, 6b, 6c, 6d (Figures 1-3, 10-13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Sadarangani et al.

Sadarangani et al. disclose an electrical machine comprising a core or common part with coils or windings, permanent magnets located at least partially inside windings and inclined at an angle relative to the direction of movement of an armature or movable elements, and an air gap between the end of permanent magnets and adjacent end surfaces contained wholly within the core or common part to improve magnetic flux thereby reducing flux leakage. They, however, fail to disclose layering of the permanent magnets.

The inclusion of multiple layers of magnetic material in creating the permanent magnets is well known in many arts and would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill depending on space requirements, flux densities, and manufacturing considerations. Moreover, there is nothing in the record which establishes that the application of such a cross-section or layering represents a novel or unexpected result (See In re Kuhle, 526 F.2d 553, 188 USPQ 7 (CCPA 1975)).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-8, 10, 17-25 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 11-14, and 16 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
